"I will do anything that is honest rather than snetzs for six weeks," said Lill, with resolute dimples deepening at the corners of her mouth, and an emphatic click of the heel of her Newport tie on the stone hearth, that showed that she was thoroughly in earnest.

Then sale passed at the brink to let the course of future events settle the question.

"To be x not to be," for Lill was rowing with swift, long strokes in the direction of the little brown head, that bobbled about among some lily pads like a new species of court of flower.

"Now, be sure that you take him home at once, put him to bed in hot blankets, and give him some ginger tea," she directed, as she placed the shivering little fellow in Bridget's arms.

Bridget promised faithfully, as she showered tears on Harry, and the blessings of all the saints on Lill, but when the first transports of her gratitude abated she began to question the policy of such an action.

"The Captain will discharge me without a character if he knows that the darlin' had a fall into the wather," she meditated. "An' shure what's the use of putting the by to bed at all? When Pat an' me was childher we never moinded a tumble into the wather any more than a fish would moind that same. Shure I'll just let him play in the sun and dhry," she finally decided.

"It's very unfortunate that Harry should have taken such a fancy to her, considering her position. Thus adjured, Lill confessed, and the fact that her family tree was rooted in Eagland, and boasted a baronet as a blossom, did much to saive Mrs. Stuyvesant's wounded family pride, and she was all smiles and urbanity on that eventful 2nd of February when the magic words of the marriage service gave Harry his birthday gift and Captain Stuyvesant his bride. An Indostry With a Destiny.

Iarper's Magazine for Fibruary. The popular knowledge of terra cotta in "I intend to go to one of those Wisconsin summer resorts," coolly announced Lill, between two terrific senerges.

"I know it," said Lill; "but you have heard of the New Eugland girls at the White Mountains?"

"Go as waitresses to the hottel don't they? So that's your idea? Good for you, Lill!" spplauded Fred.

The manufacture of terra cotta has been The manufacture of terra cotta has been carried on in some form from the earliest civilization of which we have any record; in fact, much of our knowledge of ancient history has been derived from terra-cotta inblets, whose impervious surfaces have retained the original inscriptions for thousands of years, under conditions that have caused some to crumble away and have corroded metal until all traces of its having been fashloned by human hands has disappeared.

Terra-cotta would literally include everything made of "cooked earth," from brick

And surely since Eve attended to the wants of her celestial visitors, in the dainty manner described by Milton, a more ideal, neat-handed Phyllis never waited on the table.

The French china was asemooth as satin and glistened like mother-of-pearl; the bowl of each spoon was a tiny silver mirror, and Lill hersell, in her fresh blue ginghams, with her lovely debonair face as eachette an appetizer as the pyramic of sutumnal flowers that always glowed in the center of the table.

Of course, Lill was envied by the servants and condeceended to by the boarders; but the little incidents that content of the table.

Of course, Lill was envised by the servants and condeceended to by the boarders; but the little incidents that content on the text, "Servants obey your masters," gave a camical zeal to her masquerade, and she cipyed herself thoroughty.

Owing to an arrangement she had made with Mrs. Harmon, the proprietress of the Arbor House, she had several hours of each day to herself, and these sne spent out of doore. She was rarely without a companion, for all the children had fallen in love with her at first eight, and circled about her like his moons around Jupiter.

"Oh, there's Lill!" said little Harry Stuyvesant, the son of a rich young widower, catching sight of a familiar, sunny head the river, "Oh, Lill, row up here, and the me with you!" he cried, and breaking from his Irlsh nurse, and running to the end of a stump that justed over the water, he waved the river, "Oh, Lill, row up here, and take me with you!" he cried, and breaking from his Irlsh nurse, and running to the end of a stump that justed over the water, he waved the river, "Oh, Lill, row up here, and take me with you!" he cried, and breaking from his Irlsh nurse, and running to the end of a stump that justed over the wa

But a five-year-old boy was a heavier weight for the half-decayed stump than the asthmatic old frog that had been frightened away from his fayorite sunny seat by Harry's invasion. It broke, and Harry fell into the water.

"Oh, the derlin's kilt, and he's the very jewell of his father's eyes! Ochone, ochone! and it's me fault, intirely. I'll drown messilf!" shrieked Bridget, in true Hibernian frenzy, as she rushed to the water's edge.

Then she paused at the brink to let the course of future eyenis settle the question.

The most effective and inclusive remedy for discass is ParRERE'S TONP?. It goes to the sources of path and weakness. In response to its action, the liver, kiderys, stomach and heart begin their work afrem, and disease is driven out. The Tonic is not, however, an invokicant, but cure a desire firsting drink. Have you dysoppia, rheumathur, rivoluties which have refused to yield to other agents? Here is your help.

349 a Dyspepsia is BAD. BAD in its effects on the disposition.

The man who can't comfortably digest his dinner is not a delightful companion.

BAD in its effects on the household. It sets people at variance with each other and makes them irregular and unreasonable.

BAD in its offects on the purse. A dyspeptic business man can't manage his affairs as prosperously as one with a nealthy stomach.

Brown's Iron Bitters is GOOD. GOOD in its effects on the dyspeptic. It gives him a sound digestion, and enables him to enjoy the food he swallows GOOD in its effects on the family.

It drives dyspepsia out, and with it the whole company of little demons that make home unhappy. GOOD in its effects on business. With a sound digestion a man car face and overcome worries and troubles which would wreck a dyspeptic.
Try Brown's Iron Bitters.

ed. It has superseded the Actual Cautery or hot iron; produces more than four times the effect of a blister; takes the place of all liniments, and is the safest application ever used, as it is impossible to produce a sear or blemish with it. It is a powerful, ac-tive, reliable and safe remedy that can be manipulated at will for severe or mild ef-fect. Thousands of the best Veterinarians and Horsemen of this country testify to its many wonderful cures and its great practiremely in use, as one tablespoonful of Caustic Balsam will produce more actual results than a whole bottle of any liniment or spavin cure mixture ever made. Price $1.50. Sold by druggists, or sent, charges paid, by LAWRENCE, WILLIAMS & CO., Sole Importers and Proprietors, Cleveland, Ohio. 10 None genuine without 1 has our signature on the label.
